This flamenco show fuses rhythm, movement, and music through four performers who represent the directions of the wind, the seasons, and the elements, offering an immersive journey that explores connections and natural cycles.

4 CAMINOS

- Dance and choreography: Gabriel Aragu and Federico Ordoñez
- Singing: Esteban Murillo
- Guitar: Lucas Arango

In this flamenco event, which explores encounter and unity through rhythm, movement, and music, four identities follow their own paths. Each identity represents a direction, a season, and an element. Gradually, individuality fades, giving way to a shared harmony. Guided by the symbolism of the number 4, the work addresses the cycles of nature and the invisible forces that connect us. At this crossroads, everything merges into a single heartbeat. The project will feature the Spanish artist Gabriel Aragu.

Yota Baron Flamenco Productions, founded by Yota Baron and based in Amsterdam, organizes performances and festivals throughout Europe. The company has collaborated with institutions such as the Netherlands Flamenco Biennial and the Cervantes Institute in Utrecht.
